

3 Mid-Century HYBRID LILIES

These vibrantly colored plants result from a cross between the Tiger and the Candlestick Lilies; they have great hardiness and vigor and make an unforgettable picture in your summer garden. Three to four feet tall, as many as twenty blooms per plant—long lasting.

Cultural Instructions for Lilies

Lilies must have perfect drainage. On heavy soils and level sites plant in slightly raised beds. They need sunlight and prefer a slightly acid, porous, well-aerated soil, rich in humus. Plant with four inches of soil over top of bulb. Mulch with peatmoss, feed with bonemeal and compost. Plant in fall or spring; leave bulbs undisturbed for years. These Lilies are fully hardy anywhere in the U.S.

Use peat moss in bag as soil conditioner.
